Conserving Ewes—To conserve the ewes for breeding purposes, thus raising the sheep production during the national crisis, is the aim of the forest officials. Co-operation with the sheep raisers of the country in an effort to bring this about, is being urged. That the sheepmen have the chance now to put their product in the front ranks of the world's market, is the statement made by L. F. Kneipp, district forester. With the demand for cattle to meet the meat supply, with a bit of foresightfulness on the part of the sheep raisers in the country, mutton may easily assume first rank as regards the meat supply.

DEMONSTRATIONS IN PREVENTING WASTE IN ORCHARDS

That the waste of peaches, apples, and other fruits which can be preserved by drying processes, is no less than criminal in such times as these, was the opinion expressed by K. G. Hammond, fruit drying expert from California, who arrived here today for the purpose of conducting in this vicinity a number of demonstrations of simple ways to dry fruit. Mr. Hammond gave some striking demonstrations of fruit drying before a gathering of farmers and housewives in Pleasant View this morning, and will repeat the demonstration before a similar gathering at Riverdale tonight. Tomorrow evening he will be heard at Roy.

"Thousands of tons of fruit go to waste in this country every year," said Mr. Hammond, "largely through the fact that farmers and orchardists are not familiar with methods of drying fruit from the trees by heavy storms and in other ways. This fruit, which ordinarily is fed to the pigs in these war times, so that it may be used for human consumption."

Mark Greene, marketing expert, is making a tour of the county along with Mr. Hammond, and is accomplishing splendid work among the farmers of Ogden and vicinity. The Utah Agricultural college has charge of the lecture and demonstration work being done by these experts.

Announcement was made at the officers of the Weber County farm bureau this morning that Mrs. Lydia H. Tanner will give canning demonstrations at West Weber Tuesday afternoon, Slaterville Wednesday afternoon, Harrisville Thursday afternoon, and North Ogden Friday afternoon of next week.

BOYS FOOL ORCHARD OWNERS BY USING LEAVES

Discovery by the city authorities yesterday that some one was apparently trying to cheat the public by partly filling berry cups with leaves, has brought out some interesting developments.

From the investigation, it has been made evident the grower himself had been fooled. Boys picking the berries conceived the plan of putting leaves in the bottom so they could make more money. They are paid by the cup. By this method, they increased the rate of pay to a remarkable extent, although they were shrewd enough not to arouse suspicion by overdoing the thing.

The grower said he noticed an unusual number of cups being turned in, but it never entered his head that he was "having something put over on him." He was congratulating himself as having a crew of the fastest berry pickers in his neighborhood.

The first thing he knew of the real state of affairs was when the officers came to him to investigate the shortage. He was surprised at the way the boys had fooled him. He is a prominent fruit grower in the vicinity, but for certain reasons asked that his name be withheld.

By making it right with the purchasers of his berries, and promising to the satisfaction of all parties.

AUTO UPSETS AT THE CORNER OF HUDSON AND 23RD

Rounding the corner of Twenty-third street and Hudson avenue this afternoon about 2 o'clock, a Ford automobile owned by O. S. Wold of the Lashus Livery company upset, resulting in the painful injury of two of the four occupants of the machine.

Richard Shivers and John Jennings were the two men injured. Both were severely cut about the face and head. Shivers being injured to such an extent that he was later taken to the hospital.

Dr. A. A. Robinson was called to attend the injured men and bound up their cuts. Shivers received several severe lacerations of the scalp, among his other injuries. The two other men who were in the machine when it upset were not injured, according to the report received by the police.

TO EXPEDITE TRIAL OF SLAYER OF ROGERS

Sending of United States troops to France will indirectly have an effect on the trial of Mike Baca, charged with the brutal murder of Ben Rogers in this city recently. It developed when Baca was arraigned this afternoon before Judge A. W. Agee in the district court and charged with the crime. District Attorney S. P. Dobbs, in moving for as early a trial as possible for Baca, announced that two of the state's most important witnesses are men who have received orders to be prepared to move from here August 5th. One is an Idaho national guardsmen, who expects to leave with his company for a large seaport on the Atlantic coast where troops are being mobilized for shipment to France; the other is a man who has received orders to report for service in California on the same date.

In order to expedite the trial of Baca as much as possible and at the same time give the accused Mexican a fair trial, Judge Agee announced that Baca would be put to plea tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, when he may plead guilty or not guilty to the charge of first degree murder on which he is held.

Attorneys Samuel G. Powell and David L. Stine were appointed by Judge Agee to defend Baca when the latter, through an interpreter, stated that he had no money to engage counsel nor any friends from whom he might obtain money.

UNDERTAKERS MEET IN THEIR STATE CONVENTION

The annual meeting of the Utah state funeral directors began in Ogden yesterday. Undertakers from all parts of the state and from neighboring states are at the convention. The meetings include lectures and demonstrations.

Yesterday's meeting was an instruction period on the subject of embalming. A splendid lecture on the subject was given by Professor C. O. Dhouau, president of the Cincinnati College of Embalming, who talked on the subject "Embalming." His lecture explained to the meeting all the latest methods used in properly embalming a body and he also explained what is being done in the line of scientific investigation.

The meetings are being conducted under the direction of President Qualtrough of the Utah Association of Embalmers and Funeral Directors, and are being held at the Hermitage, where two lectures were given by Professor Dhouau today.

Tonight the delegates will enjoy a banquet at the Hermitage hotel and the meetings tomorrow will conclude the convention.

GIRLS HAD BEEN WORKED LONG HOURS

Complaints have come into the office of Juvenile Judge Joshua Homer that the Utah Packing corporation is working young girls overtime in the plant at West Ogden. One parent reported that the girls were being worked up to midnight.

Investigation by Judge Homer showed that the report was true. On one occasion, when the girls had been worked late into the night, they were taken home in an automobile, but after that they had not been transported.

The packing company has agreed to stop the practice, explaining that with the scarcity of labor at the present time, the company had been unable to handle the crop of berries and vegetables coming in. This year the fruits and berries have come on them at the same time with the vegetables and it has been necessary to work day and night to get them packed.

JASSY, Rumania, July 26.—The Rumanian official war statement follows: "We continued our advance as far as twelve kilometers (7 1/2 miles) from our old front, occupying all our objectives and taking possession of ten villages. We captured 450 prisoners and many guns and much war material. The enemy is retreating in disorder."

SALOONS REQUIRED TO PAY TAXES BEFORE NEXT TUESDAY

Under the state law that business establishments which are about to close up must first pay any taxes which they may owe, Assessor Owen M. Sanderson has been collecting taxes for the present year from all the saloon men, hotel proprietors and others who will be affected by the state prohibition law which goes into effect August 1.

Although the sending out of the tax bills at this time has been done principally for the benefit of the saloon keepers who must close August 1, hotel proprietors and all others in any way affected by the state law have also received bills as a matter of uniformity.

Very few complaints were received from the saloon men in regard to paying the tax bills. It was stated at the assessor's office today, although some of them did say they believed they were victims of an injustice to the extent that the state law had made no provision for the depreciation in the value of fixtures and furnishings in the saloons, assessed at a figure they will hardly be able to bring at public sale in a dry state.

CAR SHORTAGE AS SEEN BY GENERAL AGENT OF THE U. P.

Editor Standard: Under heading of "As To the Car Shortage" in your issue of July 26, you print an article purporting to originate with one of Ogden's largest shipping industries, and in which the carriers are charged with alleged excessive terminal delays, particularly at Ogden.

Under the present stress of transportation conditions, fully known to shipper and carrier alike, there is an urgent need for co-operation between the shipper and carrier in order to dodge and to remedy just such troubles as are complained of. Carriers will gladly welcome suggestions and aid of shippers in bringing about swifter movement and placement of their cars.

In so far as this particular complaint may have reference to Union Pacific system deliveries at Ogden, suggestion is respectfully offered that the only reasonable and consistent procedure in matters of this kind is for shippers to promptly notify proper officials of the carriers, with specific references to delays complained of, for necessary investigation and application of the remedy which they seek.
